

INVESTOR BRIEF | AUGUST 11, 2026

The operating system for German bureaucracy. Nobody had built it. Until now.

A Germany-native browser workspace for small-business administration, entering through mandatory B2B e-invoicing.

2028 statutory e-invoice transition

350+ working tools

6,800+ government forms catalogued

A legal deadline creates the entry point

Germany is phasing domestic B2B e-invoicing into mandatory issuance through 2028. Millions of businesses must adopt new software across a market of approximately 4 million SMBs plus freelancers.

The first required workflow is live

- XRechnung 3.0 using CII
- ZUGFeRD aligned with EN 16931
- The output passes the official KOSIT validator
- DATEV EXTf export using SKR 03/04

Why this remains hard

Global suites stop at German-specific rules. Local products stop at their silo. Werkzeu.ge connects the work through a shared Aktenschrank and a separate personal vault that encrypts selected files in the browser before upload.

The invoice opens the operating layer

Lead to quote to project to tracked time to invoice to advisor handover. Around that core sit 6,800+ catalogued forms, 3,200+ browser-fillable forms, German people operations and six live category brands.

Commercial model and stage

Free tools and forms create entry points. A 14-day trial leads to subscription; Plus lists at 16.99 EUR per month. Werkzeu.ge is live in open beta, with final polish and repeatable distribution still to build.

Founder execution

Jonas Kutavicius built the product with zero outside funding. When an anonymous Leipzig audit-and-tax beta tester exposed a GPU-less office constraint, performance mode went live within 24 hours and improved software-rendered performance from 21 to 60 fps.

FOUNDER ROUND OPEN

Capital turns a solo-built platform into Germany's category leader before 2028.

Round size, terms, technical diligence and a founder walkthrough are available directly.
